5) Village Board Public Comment

Christine Chanchola Guzman of Roselle wrote in advance of the meeting:

"I was recently informed that Roselle still has an ordinance prohibiting backyard hens, but allows pigeon keeping.

I am requesting a change in the ordinance against owning backyard chickens, to adopting a new ordinance that allows citizens to have a small backyard flock. I would assume most people would not be privy (sic) to allowing roosters however.

I recently became interested in the concept of backyard chickens through community programs in other towns and park districts, and was informed that the Village of Roselle only allows chickens in unincorporated areas, not incorporated. Other towns in the area have begun to adopt permits allowing chickens. Several friends have chickens in those towns, and they verify that they love them and having the freedom to do so.

Many people are interested in keeping them - kids are learning to care for them in schools and farm programs at park districts. Therapists are successfully using chickens for therapy programs. There are a number of reasons chickens are beneficial for residents, whether for eggs, grass fertilizer, compost additive, or as a companion pet.

Contrary to popular belief, hens are not more of a nuisance than a neighbor's cat or dog; they do not attract rodents or predators any more than any other animal or pet kept on a property. And they do not create odor any more than a dog or cat that's not kept cleaned up after. When chickens are properly cared for as for any animal or person, odors and pests are not a problem."

Mayor Pileski responded that Planning and Zoning is currently researching the subject of the raising and keeping of chickens. Residents will be updated with any new developments. This will be scheduled for discussion at a future Planning & Zoning Commission meeting before the end of the year.*

Julia Kamysc and Maya Kerlikowski, students from Lake Park High School's Earth Club spoke in reference to business recycling on Main Street. They both worked at Juice and Berry on Main Street this summer, and noticed that businesses don't have a recycling program as part of their refuse collection, despite most businesses having room for recycling bins near their garbage containers. It would be helpful to have recycling receptacles on Main Street. The students polled the businesses on Main Street and although they'd be in support of a recycling container, they aren't in support for having to pay for it. They have attempted to get in touch with Flood Brothers to inquire about this but haven't received a response. The students are asking for the board's assistance in getting more information on the possibility of commercial recycling for Main Street businesses.

Roselle Red – Ordinance

Light Green – Resolution

Mayor Pileski stated that there is no requirement for businesses to have commercial recycling through our current contract with Flood Brothers. The proposed Petal Porch and Promenade do include having multi-use bins that include recycling along Prospect Street, and hopefully recycling on Main Street is a program that we can roll out as part of that development. The Board will take this under consideration for future policy decisions.

15) New Business

- 16) Village Board to consider staff's recommendation for the Village to enter into a professional services agreement with Sikich LLP for auditing services, presented by Finance Director, Tom Dahl.

The Village has contracted with Baker Tilly LLP to perform the annual audit for the last seven fiscal years and staff was very satisfied with their work. Government Finance Officers' Association (GFOA) best practice recommends that governments enter into multiyear agreements for auditing services of at least five years and undergo a competitive process at the end of the term. The Village extended the Baker Tilly contract two additional years due to the pandemic. In June, the Village solicited Requests for Proposals (RFP) for auditing services for the FY 2023-2027 fiscal years and three auditing firms, Crowe LLP, Sikich LLP and GW & Associates PC, submitted proposals. The submittals were reviewed by staff and the three firms were ranked, with two firms tied for the top ranking. Between the final two firms, Sikich LLP was the lowest price. The Village previously contracted with Sikich for the FY 2000 – FY 2015 audits and the Village was very satisfied with their work. Staff recommends that the Village enter into a professional services agreement with Sikich LLP for a five-year contract subject to annual review. The fee for the FY 2023 audit, paid in FY 2024 is $31,500 and the fee for the TIF audit reports is $4,755 split between the three TIF funds. Additional fees for the single audit report are included in their proposal on an as needed basis.

There was consensus from the board that staff move forward as proposed.
